“Ethnically Qualified”

Race, Merit, and the Selection of Urban Teachers, 1920-1980

Christina Collins

“This groundbreaking work will serve as an important text in the field of the history of education.”

—James W. Fraser, New York University

“An uncommonly insightful account of often contradictory racial dynamics in American society.”

—Ira Katznelson, Columbia University

This provocative book explores the barriers that African American and Latino candidates faced in attempting to become public school teachers in New York from the turn of the century through the end of the 1970s. This fascinating historical account will be essential reading as we debate who is qualified to teach in public school classrooms now and in the future.

Dewey and the Dilemma of Race

An Intellectual History, 1895-1922

Thomas D. Fallace

Foreword by Robert Westbrook

“Required reading for anyone interested not only in Dewey, but also in this important period in the history of education that continues to influence contemporary thinking.”

—Jim Garrison, Virginia Tech

This is the first comprehensive intellectual biography to trace the development of Dewey's educational views. Filling an important gap in our understanding of Dewey's thinking on culture and race, this book will be of interest to a broad range of educators, historians, philosophers, and scholars.
