

THE JOURNAL OF BRITISH STUDIES

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
AT CHICAGO CIRCLE
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

The Journal of British Studies, founded in 1961, is published at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle under the auspices of the North American Conference on British Studies. It was the result of the imaginative generosity of a Trinity College alumnus, Frederick E. Hasler (Hon. LL.D. 1957) who contributed funds to the College for the specific purpose of establishing a learned periodical in the field of British history. Several Trinity alumni subsequently contributed to the fund. The University of Illinois at Chicago Circle now supports the publication of the Journal.

The North American Conference on British Studies is a scholarly society affiliated with the American Historical Association and open to anyone in the United States and Canada interested in British civilization in its several aspects: historical, archaeological, literary, artistic, political, and sociological. Its North American constituency comprises about 800 members drawn from the fifty states and the ten provinces. Affiliated with the parent organization are seven regional conferences (New England, Middle Atlantic, South, Midwest, Rocky Mountain, Pacific Coast, and Northwest), each having its own officers, programs, and other activities and with a combined membership of more than 2,000. The Conference convenes at least once a year in the autumn, usually in joint session with one of its regional affiliates. It seeks to encourage the serious study of British institutions and culture among university and college teachers of British history, literature, politics, as well as allied subjects, and among the general reading public through meetings, book prizes, association with likeminded organization in North American and Britain, and through its publications program.

The Conference sponsors a wide variety of publications. The Journal of British Studies is published at the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle. Another journal, Albion, issued four times a year at Appalachian State University, Boone, North Carolina, and sent to all members of the parent organization, includes articles, the proceedings of the Conference at its regional and national meetings, and book reviews. The Conference also sponsors several book series, including Current Research in British Studies, a periodic survey of research in progress, edited and published at Kansas State University, Manhattan; Studies in British History and Culture, a monograph series, edited at Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio, and published by Archon Books; and a biographical series, edited at Indiana University at South Bend, and published by Shoestring Press. Another series, on bibliography, is edited at Stanford University and published by Cambridge University Press. The Conference's newsletter, The British Studies Intelligencer, also sent to its members, is published at the University of California, Irvine. It contains notices of meetings throughout North America and Britain devoted to British studies, news of appointments, moves, and retirements by those active in the profession, announcements of major new research projects, and notes on current publications and individual research in progress.

Through the award of a number of book prizes, the Conference seeks to encourage publications in the fields of British history, culture, and politics.

The Journal of British Studies appears twice in the academic year, in the Fall and in the Spring. Inquiries about subscriptions should be directed to Bentley B. Gilbert, Editor, The Journal of British Studies, Department of History, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle, Box 4348, Chicago, Illinois 60680.

Manuscripts, not exceeding 8,000 words of text, should be sent also to Professor Bentley B. Gilbert at the same address. Please send two copies and a self-addressed return stamped envelope.

THE WALTER D. LOVE PRIZE IN HISTORY

The Walter D. Love Prize in History ($150) will be awarded to the author of the best journal article, or published paper of similar length, in any field of British history, including the history of Ireland and the history of the Commonwealth, published during the calendar year 1981. The prize article or paper should exhibit a humane and compassionate understanding of the subject, imagination, literary grace, scrupulous scholarship, and should make a significant contribution to its field of study. The prize committee members are:

William T. Reedy, Chair
Department of History
State University of
New York at Albany
Albany, N.Y. 12222

Francis G. James
Department of History
Tulane University
New Orleans, La. 70118

Jeffrey Cox
Department of History
University of Iowa
Iowa City, Iowa 52240

The committee will review all relevant articles appearing in Albion, The American Historical Review, The Canadian Historical Review, The Canadian Journal of History, The Journal of British Studies, The Journal of Modern History, Speculum, and Victorian Studies. The committee welcomes nominations of articles and papers appearing elsewhere. All North American scholars are eligible to compete; the publication nominated may have appeared anywhere in the world. Nominations must be submitted by August 15, 1982; a copy of the nominated article or paper should be sent to each of the three committee members.

Edwardian Fiction

Jefferson Hunter

This is the first comprehensive assessment of the English novel in the reign of Edward VII.

"A valuable work of literary history. Hunter demonstrates the relations between the serious and popular, and the relations between both and the public themes and events of the period."—Samuel Hynes

$17.50

Ruskin and the Art of the Beholder

Elizabeth K. Helsinger

"A genuinely distinguished piece of work. Mrs. Helsinger examines with great subtlety Ruskin's relation to and ultimate revision of the critical and aesthetic traditions of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. This is a work simply studded with brilliantly original insights into the complex workings of Ruskin's mind."—E. D. H. Johnson $25.00 illus.

The Gentleman in Trollope

Individuality and Moral Conduct

Shirley Robin Letwin

Letwin examines the concept of the English gentleman in a totally new way. Taking as her point of reference Trollope's gentleman, she argues that the many contradictory definitions of the gentleman offered since medieval times are clues to an unrecognizable morality which rejects the conventional belief that all human beings are torn between reason and passion.

$20.00

HARVARD UNIVERSITY PRESS

*79 Garden Street
Cambridge, Massachusetts 02138*

The Henrician Reformation

The Diocese of Lincoln under John Longland 1521–47

Margaret Bowker

Bowker shows the impact of royal policy and religious contention on the ecclesiastical structure of the diocese and on the clergy and laity of much of England. $39.50

Servants in Husbandry in Early Modern England

Ann Kussmaul

The first comprehensive study of agricultural service between 1500 and 1850. Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Modern History $29.95

Gentlemen and Poachers

The English Game Laws 1671–1831

P. B. Munsche

Munsche explains what the laws were, why they were passed, how they were enforced, and why they were eventually repealed. $37.50

The Friends of Peace

Anti-War Liberalism in England 1793–1815

J. E. Cookson

Cookson argues that the importance of antiwar liberals has never been sufficiently acknowledged. $39.50

Sources for English Local History

W. B. Stephens

A detailed introduction to the types of source materials, manuscript and printed, available for the study of the history of English towns and regions from the tenth century to the present. The Sources of History

Hardcover $47.50

Paper $17.50

Party Ideology and Popular Politics at the Accession of George III

John Brewer

“... clearly one of the most important studies of eighteenth-century England in recent years.” – Journal of Interdisciplinary History

Now in paperback $19.95

A Liberal Descent

Victorian Historians and the English Past

John W. Burrow

Burrow considers the histories of England written by Macaulay, Stubbs, Freeman, and Froude in light of two fundamental Victorian ideas: progress and continuity.

$45.00

The People and the Party System

The Referendum and Electoral Reform in British Politics

Vernon Bogdanor

The first comprehensive critique of the historical debate on the referendum and electoral reform from the nineteenth century to 1981.

Hardcover $39.50

Paper $14.95

The Projection of Britain

British Overseas Publicity and Propaganda 1919–1939

Philip M. Taylor

Taylor traces the origins and early development of what are today called the British Overseas Information Services.

$44.50

William Cobbett: The Poor Man's Friend

George Spater

A full-scale biography of William Cobbett—also known as “Peter Porcupine,” vigorous supporter of George Washington’s administration, and as a radical political reformer, savage journalist, inventor, and member of British parliament.

2-volume set $49.50

London Chartism, 1838–1848

David Goodway

This study of metropolitan Chartism presents extensive material about the 1840s and establishes the regional importance of the London movement throughout the decade.

$39.50

Bowater

A History

W. J. Reader

A history of the Bowater Corporation’s transformation from a small paper concern to a manufacturing and trading giant.

$49.50

all prices subject to change

Cambridge University Press

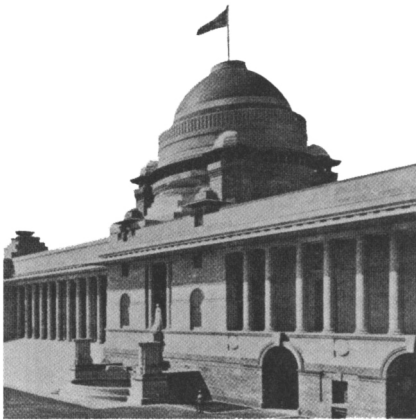

32 East 57th Street, New York, NY 10022

Indian Summer

Lutyens, Baker, and Imperial Delhi

Robert Grant Irving

The magnificent buildings of New Delhi were designed by Lutyens and Baker as an expression of the British resolve to bring disciplined order to the Indian subcontinent. They convey the very essence of art for empire's sake, yet by the time they were completed the city had become instead a monument to the demise of British authority. This handsome book explores the symbolic meaning of the capital and the dramatic progress of its construction.

"Sumptuous."—Jan Morris, The (London) Times 180 b/w + 93 color illus. $39.95

The English Miniature

John Murdoch, V.J. Murrell, Patrick J. Noon, and Sir Roy Strong

"Handsomely and authoritatively surveys English miniature painting from the sixteenth century to the mid-nineteenth century. The opening chapter is a scrupulous essay on technical and historical aspects of the distinctive craft of the miniaturist. The following three sections deal chronologically with individual miniaturists and special topics of aesthetics, patronage, and collecting."
—ALA Booklist 220 b/w + 140 color illus. Cloth $40.00 Paper $14.95

The Garden of Eden

The Botanic Garden and the Re-Creation of Paradise

John Prest

"(A) very readable, beautifully illustrated" (Publishers Weekly) discussion of the early development of the Botanic Garden which shows how the first gardens in Paris, Oxford, Padua, Leyden, and Uppsala sought to re-create Paradise.
72 b/w + 8 color illus. $25.00

The Private Journals of the Long Parliament

3 January to 5 March 1642

edited by Willson H. Coates, Anne Steele Young, and Vernon F. Snow

This valuable resource chronicles some significant months in the history of Britain's Long Parliament, interweaving the diary of Sir Simonds D'Ewes with four other parliamentary journals of the period. The entries are arranged on a day-by-day basis with extensive cross-referencing. A critical introduction, critical annotations, lists and tables, and a complete index are also included. $60.00

Victorian Sculpture

Benedict Read

Read presents a wide-ranging account of the sculpture of the 19th century, placing it in the context of the lives and working conditions of the sculptors themselves. In the process he illuminates an astonishingly diverse selection of sculpture, from well-known monuments to works which have long been forgotten.

Published for the Paul Mellon Center for Studies in British Art 476 b/w illus. + 4 color $60.00

Yale

Yale University Press
New Haven and London

The Reign of Henry VI

Ralph A. Griffiths

The first modern study of the entire reign of Henry VI, the youngest monarch ever to have ascended the English throne and the only English king to be acknowledged by French authorities as rightfully king of France. This is a fascinating examination of the third Lancastrian king and his place in English history. $35.00, illustrated, 982 pages

New in paperback—

Henry VII

S.B. Chrimes

“Certainly the best professional study we now have of the monarch most known as Henry VIII’s father.” —Speculum $8.95, illustrated, 389 pages

Christianity in Roman Britain to A.D. 500

Charles Thomas

The first definitive account of Christianity in Roman Britain since Williams’s classic work of 1912. Thomas brings together the full range of evidence from history, archaeology, and language. “The learning is so impressive that scholars will have to consult this.” —Library Journal $35.00, illustrated, 408 pages

Richard Hooker and the Politics of a Christian England

Robert K. Faulkner

Often dismissed as an apologist for the Elizabethan settlement between Church and State, the author of Laws and Ecclesiastical Polity is here revealed as a profound and original thinker, concerned with the moral and political requirements of a Christian order, who was opposed to Puritan zealotry and Machiavellian atheism. $22.50, 200 pages

End of the Affair

The Collapse of the Anglo-French Alliance, 1939-1940

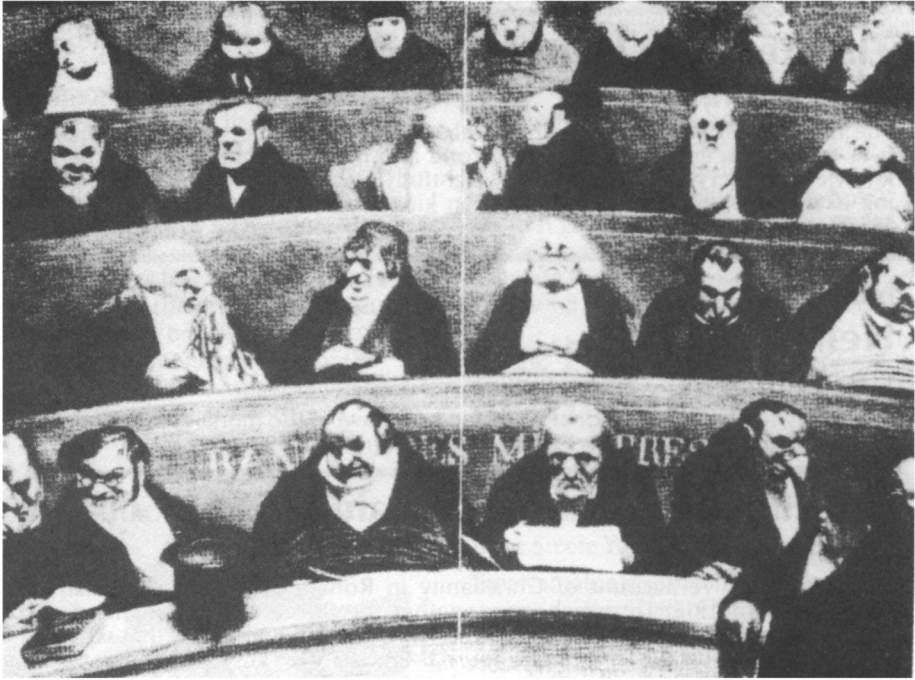

Eleanor M. Gates

“Gates has unraveled the details of the collapse of the Anglo-French agreement with remarkable thoroughness. She tells the tale so skillfully that her careful sifting of evidence and judicious assessment of military, diplomatic, and moral alternatives never lessen the dramatic impact. . . . Gates’s work is a tour de force, recommended to scholars and general readers alike.” —Library Journal $28.50, 618 pages

At bookstores

University of California Press

Berkeley 94720

—Daumier, The Legislative Body

STUDIES IN THE HISTORY OF PARLIAMENTS

JOHN BELL HENNEMAN Representative Assemblies and the Historians

THOMAS N. BISSON Celebration and Persuasion: Reflections on the Cultural Evolution of Medieval Consultation

CONRAD S. R. RUSSELL War and Estates, 1500-1648

ESTHER S. COPE Public Images of Parliament During its Absence

JOHN H. GREVER Louis XIV and the Dutch Assemblies: The Conflict about the Hague

MICHAEL F. METCALF Radical Thought in Eighteenth-Century Sweden: The Challenge to Economic Orthodoxy and Parliamentary Sovereignty, 1755-1772

VIVIAN R. GRUDER No Taxation Without Representation: The Assembly of Notables of 1787 and the Formation of Political Ideology in France

VALERIE CROMWELL Mapping the Political World in 1861: A Multidimensional Analysis of House of Commons' Division Lists

Special Issue of Legislative Studies Quarterly

Address orders to 304 Schaeffer Hall, The University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa 52242
Special Issue $9 Postpaid Annual Subscription $16.50

JOHNS HOPKINS

Nationalism in Ireland

D. G. Boyce

Here are the Irish, from Gaelic chieftains to the battle-hardened residents of modern Ulster, "talking aloud about their politics." D. G. Boyce draws on newspapers, pamphlets, poems, popular literature, and speeches to examine the development of Irish nationalism, its relationship to social and economic change, and its failure to forge a truly united Ireland.

Boyce identifies the chief characteristics of Irish nationalism as race, religion, and a strong sense of territorial unity and integrity, and explores the profound influence on each of these by the power and proximity of England. The "triumph" of nationalism in modern Ireland, he asserts, is a hollow one — little more, in fact, than a cosmetic cover-up of the problems of regionalism, apathy, rural backwardness, and conflict between classes and religions that have plagued the Irish for centuries. $32.50

The Johns Hopkins University Press

Baltimore, Maryland 21218

