

Fifty Years Among the New Words

A Dictionary of Neologisms, 1941–1991

Edited by JOHN ALGEO

'DNA fingerprinting' 'Genocide' 'Ecofreak' 'Reaganaut' 'Bobbysox'

These are just some of the words documented in the new paperback edition of Fifty Years Among the New Words. The book is a fascinating record of the new words and expressions of the last five decades, and reveals much about their original and early use and the social climate from which they sprang.

American Speech, the journal of the American Dialect Society, has for fifty years included a regular collection of neologisms called Among the New Words. Now this unique and valuable resource is accessible in this important new book.

The book will appeal to all those interested in language and the introduction of new words, whether from a social, cultural or linguistic point of view.

The Lexicon in Acquisition

EVE V. CLARK

In this synthesis of her widely respected research, Eve Clark demonstrates that the acquisition of the lexicon is central to the acquisition of language as a whole, starting with children's emerging knowledge of conventional words and meaning and taking up their growing knowledge of word structure as reflected in their formation of new words.

Language in Society

Editor

William Bright
University of Colorado

Language in Society is an international journal of sociolinguistics concerned with all branches of speech and language as aspects of social life. Published quarterly, the journal includes empirical articles of general theoretical, comparative or methodological interest. Content varies from predominantly linguistic to predominantly social. Language in Society aims to strengthen international scholarship and cooperation in this field. In addition to original articles, the journal publishes numerous reviews of the latest important books in the field, brief accounts of work in progress and notes or comments on points arising from recent publications.

Language Variation and Change is the only journal dedicated exclusively to the study of linguistic variation and the capacity to deal with systematic and inherent variation in synchronic and diachronic linguistics. Sociolinguistics involves analyzing the interaction of language, culture and society, the more specific study of variation is concerned with the impact of this interaction on the structures and processes of traditional linguistics. Language Variation and Change concentrates on the details of linguistic structure in actual speech production and processing (or writing), including contemporary or historical sources. This journal is a valuable resource for sociologists, phonologists, linguists, sociolinguists, psychologists, anthropologists and dialectologists.

STUDIES IN SECOND LANGUAGE ACQUISITION

Notes for Contributors

Contributions. Contributions are welcomed from all countries. They should be written in English. All articles should be sent to:

Albert Valdman, Editor
Studies in Second Language Acquisition
1105 E. Atwater
Indiana University
Bloomington, IN 47405, U.S.A.

Manuscripts. SSLA requires that all submissions conform to the requirements of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (Third Edition), which can be obtained from the American Psychological Association, Order Department, 1200 17th St., N.W., Washington, DC 20036. It is also available in many bookstores and libraries.

All manuscripts should be submitted in four copies, three copies for book reviews. No materials will be returned to authors unless postage is provided. Contributors should keep a copy of the manuscript; the original manuscript will not be included with the page proof. All submissions must be typewritten, double-spaced, on standard-size paper, 8½ × 11 inches. Provide a separate title page including the following information: title; subtitle; all authors' names and affiliations; and the lead author's full mailing address and telephone number. These items must each be entered on separate lines, double-spaced, using normal capitalization and no underlining. Each paper must begin with a 100–150 word abstract.

Tables, figures, and illustrations. Authors are responsible for providing camera-ready copy of tables, figures, and illustrations with the submission of an article. Authors should be prepared to furnish such copy within two weeks after notification by SSLA that their article has been accepted for publication.

References. Brief citations should be made in the text by listing the author's surname, publication date, and page number(s) when pertinent: (Chomsky, 1974, p. 240; Gass, 1973); if more than one, citations should appear in alphabetical order. When the author's name is part of the text, follow this form: Gass (1983) argues that . . .

Research referred to in the text must be listed in full in the reference list at the end of each article, review article, or book review following the specifications of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association. Begin the reference list on a separate page entitled "References." The references must be double-spaced throughout. Each entry is to include the following: author's name, co-authors (if any), publication date, title of work. For a journal article, also provide the journal's name, volume number, and page numbers for the article. For an article in a collection, list the editor's name, title of the collection, and page numbers of the article. For a book or monograph, list the edition, volume number, series, place of publication, and name of publisher. Punctuate as in the following examples:

- Ard, J. (1983). Towards an applied phonology. Paper presented at the Conference on the Uses of Phonology, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.
- Bialystok, E. (1978). A theoretical model of second language learning. Language Learning, 28, 169–183.
- Cole, R. A. (Ed.). (1980). Perception and production of fluent speech. Hillsdale, NJ: Erlbaum.
- Krashen, S. (1978). The monitor model for adult second language acquisition. In R. C. Gingras (Ed.), Second language acquisition and foreign language teaching (pp. 1–26). Arlington, VA: Center for Applied Linguistics.
- Krashen, S., & Terrell, T. (1983). The natural approach. New York: Pergamon.
- Plann, S. (1976). The Spanish immersion program: Towards nativelike proficiency or a classroom dialect? Unpublished master's thesis, University of California, Los Angeles.

Book reviews. Book reviews should be sent to: Susan Gass, Associate Editor, SSLA, English Language Center, 1 CIP, Michigan State University, East Lansing, MI 48824. Begin each book review with a separate title page that includes a full citation of the work under review. The citation is to be double-spaced and must include the title of the work, edition (if not the first), name of the author or editor, place, publisher, date of publication, and pagination. The byline stands below the last text or reference line. It contains the reviewer's name and affiliation on separate lines, flush right. For example:

A FOUNDATION COURSE FOR LANGUAGE TEACHERS. Tom McArthur. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1983. Pp. 192.

Albert Valdman
Indiana University

Proofs. First proof of an article or review article will be sent to the lead author (or a nominee), who will be expected to correct and return it to the Editor, by airmail where appropriate, within three days of receipt.

Offprints. 25 offprints will be provided free of charge to the lead author of an article or review article. Additional offprints may be purchased only if ordered at proof stage.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated.

Copyright. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights on certain conditions to Cambridge University Press to help protect their material, particularly in the U.S.A.
