Narcissism

Socrates, the Frankfurt School, and Psychoanalytic Theory

C. Fred Alford

Psychoanalytic theory argues that narcissism can be construed in a positive way, as a striving for perfection, wholeness and control over self and world. In this book, Alford applies the psychoanalytic theory of narcissism to the philosophies of Socrates, and Frankfurt School members Horkheimer, Adorno, Marcuse and Habermas, contending that it can illuminate basic philosophical issues such as the nature of the ideal society, the integrity of the self, and the role of reason in human affairs. £18.95

Language and Truth

Garth L. Hallett

In the fullest study yet made of the concept true, Hallett argues that truth is indeed correspondence of a sort, but not of the kind traditional views have envisaged. In order to discern the nature of truth more exactly, he suggests that we follow Wittgenstein's lead and examine the customary use of the word true more thoroughly and carefully than has so far been done. £18.50

Logic and Politics

Hegel's Philosophy of Right

Peter J. Steinberger

Despite Hegel's philosophy of Right having been conceived and elaborated as an integral part of a larger speculative system, both critics and defenders have often examined his political ideas in isolation, apart from their philosophical context. Steinberger examines Hegel's political philosophy in terms of the general methodological principles set forth in the Logic, offering the first discussion that bridges the gap between these two areas of Hegelian thought. £22.00

Understanding the Political Spirit

Philosophical Investigations from Socrates to Nietzsche

edited by Catherine H. Zuckert

Since the age of the ancient Greeks, the force of the human spirit — "spiritidness" — has been considered the psychological source of political action. In this book, prominent political scientists discuss the development of spiritidness from Homer, Plato and Aristotle to Machiavelli, Hobbes, Locke, Hegel and Nietzsche. £17.50

The Recent Work of Jürgen Habermas

Reason, Justice and Modernity

STEPHEN K. WHITE

The thought of Jürgen Habermas is complex and often difficult to understand. Stephen White introduces Habermas's work of the 1970s and 1980s in a clear, accessible and reliable manner. White highlights the new themes and directions in Habermas's work while locating them in the context of contemporary debates. 198 pp. 0 521 34360 7 £20.00 net

The Hellenistic Philosophers

Volume 1: Translations and Commentary

Volume 2: Texts and Notes

A. A. LONG and D. N. SEDLEY

Study of the Stoic, Epicurean and sceptical schools of philosophy has been hampered by the inaccessibility and difficulty of the surviving evidence. This is a comprehensive sourcebook, which makes the principal texts available to the widest audience since classical antiquity.

Information for Authors

Prospective authors should send their contributions, typed and double-spaced on quarto or A4 paper, to the Editor, Mr Renford Bambrough, Royal Institute of Philosophy, 14 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0AG. They should retain a second copy for the purpose of checking proofs. Articles submitted should conform to Hart's Rules for Compositors and Readers (Oxford University Press, 1967). The Editor may alter manuscripts wherever necessary to make them conform to the stylistic and bibliographical conventions of the journal. Single quotation marks should be used except where there is a quotation within another. The titles of books and journals should be underlined (i.e. to be printed in italics), as should foreign words. Titles of articles should be in single quotation marks.

Notes and references will be printed as footnotes and should be typed (double-spacing) on a separate sheet, numbered consecutively. They should be referred to in the text by superscripts. Citations should be as follows:

¹H. B. Acton, The Philosophy of Punishment (London: Macmillan, 1969), 192–198.

²R. S. Downie and Elizabeth Telfer, 'Autonomy', Philosophy 46, No. 178 (October 1971), 295.

³Op. cit. note 1, 101–112.

⁴W. C. Wimsatt, 'Some Problems with the Concept of Feedback', Boston Studies in the Philosophy of Science, VIII, R. C. Buck and R. S. Cohen (eds.) (Dordrecht: D. Reidel, 1971), 242.

The return of contributions cannot be guaranteed unless they are accompanied by stamps, or in the case of contributions from abroad, by international coupons, to cover postage. A self-addressed envelope should also be enclosed.

Only corrections of printer's errors can be allowed in proofs. Authors are therefore asked to send any alterations or additions to Mr Bambrough as soon as possible after receiving his letter of acceptance.

Authors of articles, discussion papers and review articles will receive twenty-five offprints free of charge. Additional offprints can be ordered when proofs are returned by arrangement with the Institute.

Books for review should be sent to the Editor at the Institute and not to Cambridge University Press. Publishers are asked to note that non-philosophical works are not reviewed in Philosophy.

Authors' corrected proofs should be sent to Mr Bambrough at St John's College, Cambridge. All other correspondence should be addressed to the Institute and not to any address in Cambridge.
