A Godless Jew

Freud, Atheism, and the Making of Psychoanalysis

Peter Gay

In this fascinating book Peter Gay provides new insights into Freud's views on religion and how they did — and did not — affect the development of psychoanalysis. Gay not only discusses Freud's life and personality as they affected his ideas on religion but also compares Freud's thoughts on religion to those of William James, Charles Darwin, Paul Tillich, and a host of Enlightenment figures. £10.95

At the Origins of Modern Atheism

Michael J. Buckley, S.J.

The rise of atheism in the modern world is a religious phenomenon unprecedented in history, both in the number of its adherents and in the security of its cultural establishment. In this book, Michael J. Buckley investigates the origins and development of modern atheism, arguing that its impetus lies paradoxically in the very attempts to counter it. £22.50

Doctrines of Religious Communities

A Philosophical Study
William A. Christian, Sr.

A valuable study in the philosophy of religion. Drawing examples from all the major religions, William A. Christian examines how a religious community governs the development of its own body of doctrines. £22.50

Explaining Religion

Criticism and Theory from
Bodin to Freud

J. Samuel Preus

How is religion to be explained, if the existence of God is not a presupposition? According to J. Samuel Preus, this is the critical question that gave rise to the scientific study of religion. Examining the work of nine seminal figures spanning three centuries, Preus traces the movement away from traditional theological explanations towards the idea that religion could be accounted for without benefit of clergy. £22.50

Continental Philosophy and Modern Theology

An Engagement

DAVID BROWN

Focusing principally on contemporary issues such as hermeneutics, Deconstructionism, Liberation Theology, David Brown provides a thorough account of systematic theology. He shows how the major debates have been influenced by current philosophy and how the introduction of key thinkers to the debates in theology can produce significant insights.

Christology in Conflict

The Identity of a Saviour in Rahner and Barth

BRUCE MARSHALL

Christology in Conflict is an analysis of two different strategies for interpreting the identity of Christ and the recurring theological dilemma of how to deal with a figure who was both a human individual and yet the bearer of universal, divine significance. Marshall considers in this connection the work of two leading christological thinkers of this century, Rahner and Barth.

The Church and Wealth

Edited by W. J. SHEILS and DIANA WOOD

Many of the essays in this twenty-fifth anniversary volume of the Ecclesiastical History Society's proceedings focus on the paradox of the biblical tradition of rejecting earthly riches and the undeniable wealth of the Church as an institution. Other essays consider the Church's methods of acquiring wealth, and its attitude towards commerce.

The Formation of a Persecuting Society

Power and Deviance in Western Europe 950–1250

R. I. MOORE

The developments of the eleventh and twelfth centuries, which saw the appearance of popular heresy in Europe, the establishment of the Inquisition and the persecution of Jews, lepers, prostitutes and other minority groups, are here examined by R. I. Moore, who argues that the true origins of persecution lay in fundamental changes in social and economic organization, religion and government then taking place in Europe.

The Formation of Christendom

JUDITH HERRIN

'This is a book written with great verve, freshness of approach and originality of view. It shows a vivid appreciation of the immense variety of local conditions, opinions and customs in both the eastern and the western halves of the Roman Empire in the early Middle Ages: an important contribution to a huge subject which is just beginning to be studied as a whole.' NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the Editor, Professor S. R. Sutherland, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributions of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviews will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
