Collective Violence

James F. Short, Jr. and Marvin E. Wolfgang, editors

"If you want to find out about what is going on and coming down in the United States, one way to do so is to read Collective Violence. After that, if you still have the energy and the will, take a long walk in your nearest city, come home in fear and trembling, mop your brow, lock your door, and start reading this book all over again. America—love it and change it."

387 pp. $12.50 cloth, $4.95 paper

Irving Louis Horowitz

The Silverlake Experiment

Testing Delinquency Theory and Community Intervention

LaMar T. Empey and Steven G. Lubeck

"This report of an experiment in delinquency reduction gives rich insight into a number of problems: limitations of current sociological theory as a guide both to research and practice; difficulties in researcher-practitioner collaboration; details of process, including failure, success, and ambiguity, in one design for delinquency reduction; and many suggestive findings about what works in delinquency control."
