

EDITORIAL

Review Articles

Now that the other recent innovations in the Journal appear to be running relatively smoothly, we would like to give the opportunity for authors to contribute Review Articles. These were a feature of the Journal in years past, particularly in the early years, many of which were contributed by Norris Wolfenden. It is not intended that these shall be by invitation though obviously this may occur from time to time. However, it is to be expected that contributors will have considerable authority and expertise of the subject under review and will wish to pass on this knowledge or update earlier material contributed elsewhere, for example as a chapter of a book.

It is hoped that this will become a regular feature but naturally this will depend upon the level of interest shown by contributors.