

General Notes

So many interesting points are touched upon that it would be invidious in a short review to single any out of the multitude, for the volume before us, reaching only 80 pages of large print, is in itself a model alike of conciseness and unstilted writing—a rare combination upon which we should like to congratulate the author. We must therefore content ourselves by cordially recommending “Mirror-Writing,” for the contents cannot fail to be appreciated by minds of scientific bent.

LETTER TO EDITORS

TREATMENT OF LUPUS BY RADIUM.

TO THE EDITORS,

Journal of Laryngology and Otology.

DEAR SIRS,—With reference to the treatment of Lupus by Radium, allow me to assure Sir St Clair Thomson and others interested in this subject, that both I and the Medical Officers of the Radium Institute, London, have for many years been aware of “possible, uncertain, and sometimes remote evil effects” of radiation such as have been obtained in America and on the Continent; further, that adequate measures have been taken to guard against them, and that, in six years’ experience, I have yet to see a case where any untoward results have arisen.—Yours faithfully,

H. MORTIMER WHARRY.

LONDON, 1st November 1928.

GENERAL NOTES

ROYAL SOCIETY OF MEDICINE.

1 Wimpole Street, London, W. 1.

Section of Otology.—President, Mr Somerville Hastings, M.S. Hon. Secretaries, Mr Nicol Rankin, M.C., M.B., 56 Harley Street, London, W.1, and Dr F. C. Ormerod, M.D., 13 Welbeck Street, London, W.1.

The next Meeting of the Section will be held on Friday, 7th December, at 10.30 A.M. Members desirous of showing patients or specimens should communicate with the Senior Hon. Secretary at least twelve days before the meetings.

Section of Laryngology.—President, Mr H. Bell-Tawse, F.R.C.S. Hon. Secretaries, Mr Lionel Colledge, F.R.C.S., 2 Upper Wimpole Street, London, W.1, and Mr M. E. Vlasto, F.R.C.S., 26 Wimpole Street, London, W.1.

The next Meeting of the Section will be held on Friday, 7th December, at 5 P.M. Members desirous of showing patients or specimens should communicate with the Senior Hon. Secretary at least twelve days before the meetings.

General Notes

THE SEMON LECTURE, UNIVERSITY OF LONDON, 1928.

On the afternoon of Thursday, 1st November, Professor Hajek of Vienna delivered the Semon Lecture, taking as his subject Laryngology and Rhinology in their relation to General Medicine. The lecture will be published in the next number of the Journal.

Professor Hajek, who was introduced by the Chairman, Mr H. Bell-Tawse, President of the Section of Laryngology, received a very cordial welcome from a large audience. A vote of thanks to the lecturer was proposed by Sir St Clair Thomson and seconded by Sir James Dundas-Grant, K.B.E.

On the same evening Sir St Clair Thomson held a reception at 64 Wimpole Street, extending his hospitality to the members of the Sections of Laryngology and Otology.

THE COLLEGE OF SURGEONS OF AUSTRALASIA.

We have great pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of the first number of the Journal published under the auspices of the College of Surgeons of Australasia, and we have accepted the kind invitation of the Editors to place the Journal upon our exchange list. The first number contains much information of varied interest. It includes the report of the Proceedings of the First Annual Meeting of the College, and interesting articles on the history of the Royal Colleges of Surgeons in Great Britain and Ireland. The scientific papers are of a high standard.

PREHISTORIC EVIDENCE OF NASAL ABNORMALITIES.

Dr F. A. Burton, F.A.C.S., has had the opportunity of studying in the Museum of Man, at San Diego, California, a large number of prehistoric skulls collected by the members of an expedition sent to Peru for the purpose of obtaining anthropological material. His papers incorporating his observations are full of interest, and a brief reference may be made here to what he has written upon deviations of the nasal septum.

It was customary among the Incas of Peru to produce artificial distortion of the cranium in infancy by the application of compression-bands. In the collection examined, 33 crania had been artificially deformed, and of these 20 or 60 per cent. had deviated nasal septa. Of 152 undeformed crania, 40 or 26 per cent. presented a similar alteration in the position of the septum. In the majority there was a simple bowing of that structure or bowing associated with a ridge or crest.

Dr Burton draws the following conclusion:—"The incentive leading to this investigation was a desire, or rather a curiosity, to study the relation between septal deviation and development of the cranial box, and I believe that I am now able to show that the development of the cranium is a decided factor in the etiology of this condition. The figures indicate that alteration in the development of the size and shape of the cranial cavity plays a major rôle in causing septal deviation, especially simple bowing, or bowing plus ridge, while simple ridges or spurs, which are rare, come from sources other than disturbed development of the head. In other words, the marked increase in frequency shown by the series of artificially deformed skulls over the series of undeformed ones must have a reason behind it and the explanation suggests itself that the constriction of the skull in these cases of artificial deformation exerted pressure from above downward, and that this force was added to the usual pressure from below upward. By the same process of reasoning, is it not obvious that the increased pressure against the floor of the cranial box is a productive factor in the increase in number of septal deviations?"

The Editors of the Journal desire to express their indebtedness to, and their appreciation of, the work of Dr Douglas Guthrie and the staff of collaborators, in the voluntary assistance which they have given throughout the year in the preparation of abstracts of current medical literature dealing with the specialty.

ERRATUM.

Owing to a reporter's error in connection with the publication of the Proceedings of the Summer Meeting of the Section of Laryngology, Royal Society of Medicine, the notes upon "Achalasia and Degeneration of Auerbach's Plexus," appearing upon p. 794 of this Journal, were ascribed to A. T. Rake, F.R.C.S., instead of to G. W. Rake, M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

Models of the Labyrinth

These models (King's College Hospital pattern) were devised by

Mr A. H. CHEATLE
and

Mr NEGUS
for teaching purposes and for investigating labyrinthine diseases.

The pointers on the Head frame lie parallel with the Frankfort plane, so that when the frame is on the head the models lie in correct orientation in all respects. The patient's head can be put in any position and the exact relations of each of the canals are seen; rotation and caloric tests can be carried out with the frame in position.
