

PREFACE

This is the second of two volumes comprising the proceedings of the 1990 Biennial Meeting of the Philosophy of Science Association held in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The first volume, consisting of the program and the contributed papers, was published in advance of the meeting in October, 1990. The second volume consists of the presidential address, invited papers and symposia. Northwestern University provides generous support for the preparation of these volumes.

The Program Committee (consisting of Robert Brandon, Deborah Mayo, Alan Nelson, Thomas Nickles and John Norton) with Linda Wessels as its chair, arranged for the symposia and invited papers. Micky Forbes, Assistant Editor of these Proceedings, supervised the editing and processing of the papers to produce uniform, camera ready copy. The PSA Business Office saw the copy through to publication.

Thanks are due to the Program Committee and the authors. We are grateful to Northwestern University for financial support and to its Academic Computing Center for the use of their word processing facilities. Special thanks are due Wendy Ward, whose expertise and imagination in using these facilities shows up on every page of the volume.

Linda Wessels
History and Philosophy of Science
Indiana University
Bloomington

Arthur Fine and
Micky Forbes
Department of Philosophy
Northwestern University