

Rhead, Louis, artist. All's Well. [not after 1918]. Folger ART Box R469 no.80 (size S)

This illustration by Louis Rhead was created for Tales from Shakespeare, by Charles and Mary Lamb (New York: Blue Ribbon Books, 1918). The Lambs' adaptation rendered Shakespeare's verse in prose, and eliminated language and scenes that they deemed would be inappropriate for children. This sketch appears on p. 188 of the Lambs' edition, illustrating a scene where Bertram and Helena (in disguise as Diana) part after an evening of "lively conversation."

From an original in the Folger Shakespeare Library
Licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License (CC BY-SA 4.0)