

Painted by F. Wheatley, R. S.

Engraved by J. Stow.

COMEDY OF ERRORS

Act 4. Scene 4.

Antipholus of Syracuse, Dromio, Courtesan, &c.

Printed April 22. 1798. by J. & J. Boydell, at the Shakespeare Gallery, Pall Mall, & at 27. St. Chrysostom.

Wheatley, Francis, artist. Comedy of Errors, Act 4, Scene 4, Antipholus of Ephesus, Dromio, Courtesan, &c. James Stow, printmaker. London: J & J Boydell, at the Shakespeare Gallery, 1798. Folger ART File S528c1 no.23 copy 1 (size XS)

Antipholus of Syracuse's horror at being confronted by an overly-familiar courtesan was a popular illustration. In this illustration by Francis Wheatley, painted for the Boydell Shakespeare Gallery and engraved by James Stow, Antipholus balls his fist as if to strike the Courtesan.

From an original in the Folger Shakespeare Library
Licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License (CC BY-SA 4.0)