

When I consider everything that grows
Holds in perfection but a little moment

Shakespeare, William, poet, and Henry Osipov, illstrator. "Illustration opposite Sonnet XV 'When I consider everything that grows'" in Shakespeare's sonnets / illustrated by Henry Osipov. London: J. Lane, 1899. Folger PR2848 1899c Sh.Col.

This copy of an 1899 edition of Shakespeare's sonnets, illustrated by Henry Osipov, was owned by American painter James McNeill Whistler. Today Whistler is best known for his Arrangement in Grey and Black No.1, or Whistler's Mother.

From an original in the Folger Shakespeare Library
Licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International License (CC BY-SA 4.0)